What a waste to leave that food uneaten!

Food waste occurs in various ways, such as leaving food uneaten at restaurants. In Kyoto City, the amount of food waste per person is equivalent to throwing away three rice balls during a two-night, three-day trip...! Let's aim for eco-friendly and budget-friendly tourism in Kyoto.

Visit our Web site here.

Kyoto City No Food Loss and Waste Project

Kyoto City encourages people to finish their meals to reduce food waste. This website introduces tips for eating all your food when dining out, as well as helpful information for tourists.

Please don't litter!

Littering is prohibited in Kyoto City. (Take your garbage with you or to designated places.)

Bring your own reusable bag and water bottle!

"My Bottle" and "Water Supply Spot"

Tips for Finishing Your Entire Meal

1
MANNER

Check the portion size.

Eating everything expresses appreciation to the cook and food.

2
MANNER

Ask if there are any ingredients you can't eat.

The staff may change out foods that you can't eat.

3
MANNER

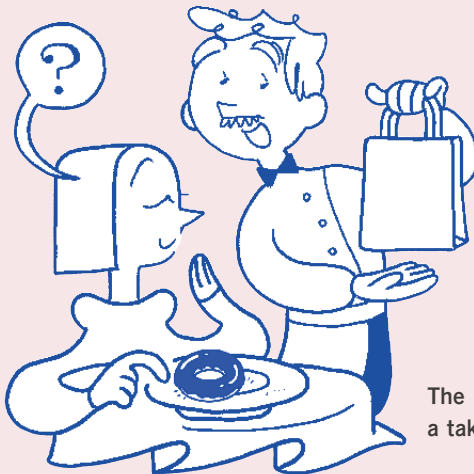

Take only as much as you can eat at the buffets and all-you-can-eat restaurants.

It is a bad manner to take food more than you can eat.

4
MANNER

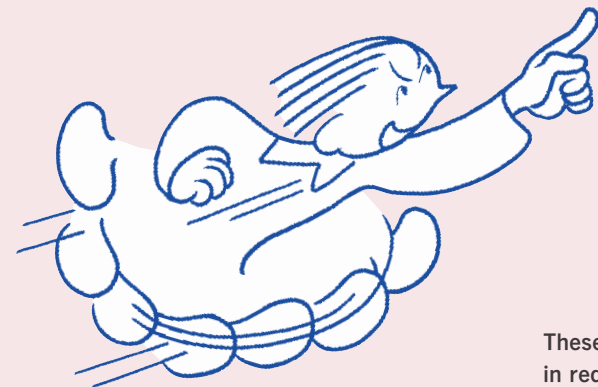

Ask if you can take leftovers home.

The staff may put them in a takeaway box.

5
MANNER

Choose restaurants or stores with the Sticker "Kyoto City No Food Waste".

These restaurants engage in reducing "food waste".
